24 Hour Emergency Service

When loose parts, tools or debris are dropped into important manufacturing, process and power generation systems, VTS can retrieve them without the need for disassembly. We arrive on-site with remote visual testing equipment and specialised retrieval tools, which allow us to retrieve these items from hard to reach areas. Backed by years of experience, we have a 99% success rate which has saved our customers money by reducing downtime. When the job is complete, we provide video documentation of a clean system which is ready to go back on line.
